News Reader In the News Reader view, you can tap through the newest and/or popular content published on the Chilkat India website. As with the News view, tapping on the Download button takes you to a web page that lists the available RSS feeds for downloading and viewing in News Reader mode. Tapping on the Subscribe button takes you to a page where you can subscribe to one of the available feeds, and that feed will be downloaded and loaded automatically each time you open the app.

NewsReader In addition to the frequently updated feeds from the Chilkat India website, you can also load feeds from other sources. Simply tap on the menu at the upper right corner of the screen and then choose Load External. From here, you can choose from the RSS feeds that are available on the Google Reader website. For instance, you can load some of the feeds from the Web Search categories. In that case, in the Search results window, you can tap either on the plus button at the bottom left to add a feed directly to the current news list, or on the arrow button to the left of the plus button to scroll down and search for and then load a specific feed.

Android app for Facebook "Likes" iOS app for Facebook "Likes" There's an app available on the Apple App Store which displays your profile's Facebook Likes, and can also display any of your friends' Likes and any Likes recently added by your friends. You can also like your own Facebook Likes. Tap on the "Likes" tab to view this content, and then click on the orange "Like" button below the list of Likes and Likes to view your Likes or Likes. No doubt that Facebook's like counts are a way for your friends to show their interest and preference towards your friends' content. The app does quite well

What's New In Guietzli Portable?

Guietzli Portable is an unofficial yet highly powerful and efficient desktop application for JPEG encoding. With its almost unbelievably easy to use interface and flexible settings, it's very likely that you'll not be able to live without this desktop program after trying out this portable JPEG encoder for yourself. As usually, first the trick and then the explanation of the explanation.

Shrinking files using Guetzli GUI is a very easy process. Just drag and drop the files you want to shrink on the import window, choose what quality you want (and do not forget the following advice, low quality number will yield higher quality with some tweaking), and hit start to get them downloaded and encoded. There's no need of configure.ini file, advanced CPU or memory features, settings simply go fine with the default features. Don't forget that the quality options are decimals (92.8 for example, not 90.0) or percentage (%) (84, not 83%), but that's not really a problem if you remember that around 200 is what you want (in decimals), which yields around 160% and much better quality. So you want to know the hidden technology behind the process? Easy, Guetzli actually uses the Google's Guetzli Encoder, which as we pointed earlier, will shrink the files you're uploading up to 35%, but it's also capable of shrinking files of any percentage (70, 85 etc) with quality up to 110, but again, that's a trade-off for smaller files (35% to 70% shrinkage will take much more resources, which is again why the higher number works better), and if you want to know more about it, please visit Guetzli page. Now that you know all the simple and easy to understand process of shrinking JPEG files using Guetzli GUI, we can move on to the explanation of the process. The process and the hidden technology that's used to achieve the quality gains. The process is very simple. Google's Guetzli encoder is capable of shrinking any file up to 35%, but again as with the file shrinker before it, shrinking the files with a very high quality value (say 110) will yield much higher quality files. Why does that work exactly? Google's encoder uses two main types of shortcuts. First, the encoder features the "SSE2-XSS/AVX-Bulldozer" technology. It enables the encoder to encode a larger amount of
