KeyMacro is a powerful keyboard macro recorder. You can record hot keys, keyboard shortcuts, command sequences, and even create your own. There are many useful features that are already included such as templates, hotkeys, auto/user input, multiple instances, clipboard history, dynamic hotkey evaluation, multi-select, single press/repeat, multi key repeat, key scan, keyboard layouts, GUI display and more. You can also create complex hotkeys and macros from existing commands. You can use KeyMacro to record keystrokes from applications like: Mail, Outlook Express, Internet Explorer, Netscape, Opera, Thunderbird, Gaim, Kopete, KVIrc, Mozilla, WordPad, Opera Mail, OpenOffice, Solitaire, Windows Media Player, AbiWord, Kate, nEdit, Gimp, TeXmacs, KDevelop, Eclipse, Eudora, KWord, Adobe Acrobat, Amaya, Kompozer, kwrite, Cheese, Scribus, Kate, Pidgin, Opera, VLC, Firefox, TextMate, OO.org, GnuCash, Calculator, OpenOffice, Xfce, etc. Also include "hidemenu" for Linux /Mac OS X (NOT for windows) and "ClipMenu" which is for Windows Only! KeyMacro will also detect commands from the program or system tray, so you can record the commands, that you execute right from the application. KeyMacro will also record the mouse clicks and mouse movements, which can be useful when you want to record mouse gestures in conjunction with other commands, such as dragging/dropping an object from one application to another, or executing a macro to perform the action. It will also detect "Application Menu" entries. If you double click on an item that is not in the list (if you have set that up), it will be automatically added to the list. There is a simple but powerful "undo" function. If you accidentally delete something, you can simply click on the "Undo" button or you can click "Undo" once and then again and the last operation will be re-recorded. You can check if an operation or a text string is a sequence of one or more commands, rather than a single command. There are multiple advanced "modifier" support functions. In addition to the "Modifiers" and "HotKeys" tab, you will also find a "Sequence" 1d6a3396d6

40tude Dialog is a feature loaded, multi-server, multi-threaded Windows newsreader with Unicode character support. It supports multiple servers and identities, has filtering/scoring support, integrated email functionality and binary support including support for multipart. 40tude Dialog has a multilingual GUI. Currently English, German, French, Italian, Dutch, Polish, Croatian and Greek translations are available. Here are some key features of "40tude Dialog":

- ☐ Color coding The message bodies in Dialog are color coded. You can use custom colors for quoted lines (with different colors for up to 4 quotation levels), signatures, links and spoiled text.
- ☐ Extremely customizable GUI Dialog has a modern look and supports Windows XP themes. You can use a three pane layout for the list of newsgroups, the article list and message bodies with your preferred arrangement and you can zoom each of these panes. The toolbar buttons and keyboard shortcuts are fully customizable.
- ☐ Multiple server support Dialog supports multiple servers. Though the same groups on different servers are presented as separate groups in Dialog, you can copy or move articles into one group, either manually or by using a filter that does it automatically. This is a great way to fill missing parts of multipart postings from other news servers. Dialog has support for SSL connections.
- ☐ Multiple identity support You can define multiple identities, e.g. when you have to post or email in your spare time and for your company.
- ☐ Multiple background threads Dialog can start multiple connections to each server and use these connections in multiple threads. A distinct thread logic makes the most of the number of allowed connections while leaving space for new tasks at the same time.
- ☐ Spell checker The built-in spell checker provides complete live-spelling and live-correct support, as known from MS Word. Dictionaries are available for more than 15 languages.
- ☐ Email support Dialog handles emails just as well as news articles. You can use the filtering support to automatically move emails from mailing lists to their own folder. The threaded sorting order for emails also makes it much easier to follow the discussion.
- ☐ Scripting support Change the way Dialog works or extend it yourself using powerful object oriented Pascal scripts.
- ☐ Advanced scoring and filtering capabilities Automatically fetch replies to your own postings or copy them to their own
