Think of that as a hybrid between video game and motion capture technology, using the real person's movement as the stimulus for the computer to generate its own movement. EA gets to tell you when you won, and when you lost, and what you're doing to fix things. The EA philosophy is that you're not a good player unless you're winning. So it's not a question of whether you do well, but how much you win. Win how many trophies? How many team total points? It doesn't matter, the only thing that matters is how much you won. The
