Taking the form of a long, narrow hall that is 40 metres long and 4 metres wide, it will be set in an old caboose for the Northern Fells rail line and will be the ideal space for workshops, talks, presentations and display areas. The glazed structure is designed to be built with the traditional skills of carpenters and joiners and is hoped to make a lasting, positive impression when it is opened to the public in April 2018.The present invention relates generally to a sensing circuit, and more particularly to a sensing circuit with a floating power supply. Referring to FIG. 1, a conventional sensing circuit for sensing an object 10 is shown. The sensing circuit 10 includes a pair of resistors R1 and R2. The sensing circuit 10 further includes a voltage source V_{cc} and a reference voltage V_{ref}. The voltage source V_{cc} is coupled to a common electrode of the pair of resistors R1 and R2. The reference voltage V_{ref} is coupled to a first end of the resistor R2. The other end of the resistor R1 is coupled to a ground line. The voltage source V_{cc} and the reference voltage V_{ref} are coupled to a same power supply source V_{dd}. The first end of the resistor R2 is coupled to the common electrode through a diode. The diode is coupled to the ground line through a resistor R3. The voltage of the common electrode is delivered to a head of a computer through a transducer. The voltage of the common electrode is subject to one of two states. When the object 10 is in contact with the common electrode, the voltage of the common electrode is decreased from a value $V_{cc} - V_{ref}$ to a
