GearDownload Activation Code home page: Mondini Armando Mondini (June 5, 1871 – August 12, 1945) was an Italian painter, mainly of historical, and sometimes landscapes. Biography Born in Alessandria, Mondini studied at the Accademia d'Arte Medievale e Moderna in Florence under Luigi Fornasini. He went to Rome to continue his studies, painting there with Vittorio Pietropaoli and Sandro Fancini. He traveled again to Rome in 1905 to study with the sculptor Giovanni Morelli and then went to Paris as a student of the philosopher Henri Bergson. After World War I he made a living designing military uniforms. Armando Mondini died in Florence. He often painted elaborate chiaroscuro with ornate architecture. Of his paintings of the Temptation of Christ, Mondini said, "I did not want to paint, I wanted to go into ecstasies that had no limits."
