My question is, how to turn above data into JSON format A:
Your code is failing on the second to last line: `json_str += " "+json_arr[0]` The `json_arr[0]` iterates only over the keys and not the values; the values don't have a 0. Here is a working version of your code with only those changes: `import json with open("test.txt","r") as f: json_dict = json.load(f) json_str = "" json_arr = [] for item in json_dict: for key in item.keys(): if len(key)>1 and key[1]==":": json_str += "{ " json_str += key+": "+item[key]+" " json_str += " " else: json_str += "{"+item[key]+"} " json_arr.append(item[key])` print(json.dumps(json_str)) Effect of in vitro shock on isometric force-velocity relationships in the rat soleus. The effects of in vitro shock were examined on isometric force and maximum velocity of contraction in isolated rat soleus muscles. Muscles were exposed to 3 h of shock (37 degrees C) which subsequently resulted in a force depression of 49% compared with control muscles. Maximal tension-generating capacity was reduced to only 62% of control values. Maximum shortening velocity was also impaired by 43% (P less than 0.05) during the first 30 s of a 20 s twitch but was unaffected beyond this time period. Maximum Ca²⁺-activated tension was reduced by 48% during the first 30 s of a contraction in the shock muscles whereas maximum Ca²⁺-activated tension was reduced
