I downloaded a torrent file but it keeps telling me I'm trying to download something on a different computer, it's just an mp3 file that I downloaded... You can edit it, change your cover (if you can), or remove it all together. Select the file or files in the ZIP file you downloaded. Select the Edit button to start unzipping (or right-click for Windows 8 and Windows 10). Notice when the files are unzipped your dialog window will show a preview of the image, then a small message saying "File". In the Find Dialog box (which looks similar to the one in the picture above), you can make sure you're searching for the image you want, make sure to use spaces in the "File name" box and the "Find in:" box (or press Ctrl + F). You can also use wildcards like: *.jpg *.png *.mp3 *.wav *.mp4 *.avi etc. Note: You can do this for any image in the file. All I'm doing is showing a picture of it, but you could do this for any kind of media type, which means you can use this method to change a video, a playlist, text, an audio file, and other kinds of files.
