Now I am trying to install Netbeans 8.1.2 on Ubuntu 12.04 and I can't find this new folder. How can I install Netbeans 8.1.2 on Ubuntu 12.04? A: P.S. I decided to try installing Netbeans 8.2. After downloading, I went to the website and simply downloaded Netbeans_8.2_linux-x86_64.sh. I then did a gpg --no-options --armor verify netbeans-8.2-linux.x86_64.sh.asc and everything went smoothly. Then I used the command sh netbeans-8.2_linux-x86_64.sh. This appears to be a good Netbeans 8.2 for the Ubuntu 12.04 Precise Pangolin distro. Q: How to detect the session termination in Typescript + React I'm playing with Typescript + ReactJS. And I need to detect session termination. Like if I have logged in, I don't need to make any call when I log in for the first time, etc. The question is: How to detect session termination in Typescript + ReactJS? I'm testing with this code class App extends React.Component { constructor(props) { super(props); this.handleTimeout = this.handleTimeout.bind(this); } async handleTimeout() { console.log('Not found in the playlist'); //something like this...

R Studio Crack.Q: BASH variable evaluates to whole string instead of string with spaces I have a variable $i with a few spaces in it. E.g. 5-4-3 # $i I am just checking if the string starts with $i-4: if [["$i-4" == "$i"]] But it seems like bash interprets it as if I wanted to check if $i started with 5-4-3, instead of just 5-4-3 A: No, it is not doing this. If you do i=5-4-3 if [["$i-4" == "$i"]] then echo "$i" fi I get 5-4-3 Q: Why can't I add an argument in a function? I want to use stack in a function, but the compiler gives an error. *Main.hs:12:18:
