Image forming apparatuses, such as printers and multifunctional peripherals (MFPs), are usually provided with an anti-fingerprint function to prevent the formation of fingerprints on the surface of a print image or on a photosensitive drum (or an image carrier). For example, an image forming apparatus is known that includes an anti-fingerprint means that includes a laminate of a heat-resistant film, a silicone oil coated on the surface of the heat-resistant film, and a heat-resistant plate as an adhesive layer disposed between the heat-resistant film and the surface of the image carrier to inhibit the formation of fingerprints. However, the arrangement of the above-mentioned anti-fingerprint means still requires a sufficient distance between the surface of the image carrier and an element located over the surface of the image carrier in order to prevent the formation of fingerprints. As a result, a long-term use of the image forming apparatus results in a reduction in the printing speed. In order to overcome the problems described above, preferred embodiments of the present invention provide an image forming apparatus that includes a number of components in a short distance for the purpose of preventing the formation of fingerprints on the surface of a print image or on a photosensitive drum. Furthermore, preferred embodiments of the present invention provide an image forming apparatus that includes a number of components in a short distance for the purpose of preventing the formation of fingerprints on the surface of a print image or on a photosensitive drum in a multi-color image forming apparatus. Moreover, preferred embodiments of the present invention provide an 6d1f23a050
