On the role of the plasma concentration of clopidogrel in patients with acute coronary syndromes. The present report provides a detailed assessment of the pharmacokinetics and the antiplatelet effects of clopidogrel, in a cohort of patients with stable angina or with acute coronary syndromes (ACS) undergoing coronary angiography. Clopidogrel was administered as a 300-mg loading dose on the day of angiography, and 75 mg daily for 1 month in all patients. Plasma concentrations of clopidogrel and its active metabolite, clopidogrel carboxylic acid, were measured at 0, 0.5, 1, 2, 4, 6, and 12 hours after drug administration, in 10 patients with stable angina and in 20 patients with ACS. In patients with ACS, significantly higher values of clopidogrel carboxylic acid (3.2 ± 1.4 vs. 2.5 ± 1.1 , p trailer. Inhibition of human immunodeficiency virus infection by synthetic polynucleotides. Polynucleotide analogs with strong homology to a segment of the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) genome, containing the signal peptide region of gag and a portion of gag, were synthesized. The resultant mixed-chain oligonucleotide analogs were effective inhibitors of HIV infection in vitro in various cell lines, as determined by a specific assay for viral replication.

The effect was compared to that of an authentic double-stranded DNA of comparable length, as well as an antibody to the gag protein, called p12.Q: Loading a script with iframe still executes code in the parent window. How do I stop it? I have a javascript file that I am using with iFrame. One of the scripts loads the script dynamically using some code I found on StackOverflow. My problem is that the code inside the parent script gets executed as well, while the script only loads inside the iFrame. Is there a way to tell iFrame to not execute any code? A: There are a few ways to do this. The simplest is just not to include the script tag in the iframe. The parent should avoid linking to that script if it is a security issue. Another would be to look for the window.parent if

(window.parent) { window.parent.console.log('a'); } if (window.parent) { window.parent.document.getElemen
tById('log').innerHTML += 'a 6d1f23a050
