Reflections on an enduring storm It's a 'beautiful' story that very few will have heard, and it's now the subject of the third part of a three-part documentary series on the men and women who served the Freedom Flotilla, the Israeli-sponsored ships that sailed from North Africa to Gaza last year to break Israel's chokehold on the Palestinians' water supply. In the first part, which aired this week, we heard from one of the founders of the flotilla, an inspirational man who endured days of trying to organize the 10-strong fleet. The second part aired earlier this week, and focuses on the Turkish vessel that was sunk by an Israeli commando. On the flotilla's logic, Pil de Gruz, who also met with us at the start of the project, said that although the Israelis had a right to defend themselves by sea, that defence had to be proportionate. "When you're sailing with 200, or 250,
